

Copyright Transfer Statement

When this article is accepted for publication, the copyright to the article is hereby transferred to The Keio Journal of Medicine. The copyright transfer covers the exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute the article in any form, including reprints, photographic reproductions, electronic database, or any other reproductions of similar nature, and translations. However, the authors retain the right to all proprietary rights other than copyrights, such as patent rights.

Date signed

Corresponding Author's signature

Reprographic Reproduction Rights in Japan

The Keio Journal of Medicine (KJM) has commissioned the Japan Academic Association for Copyright Clearance (JAC) to handle rights related to reprographic reproduction of this work.

Please apply to JAC for a license to copy.

For corporations that have entered into an annual blanket copying agreement with the Japan Reproduction Rights Center (JRRC), there is no need to apply to JAC for a license to copy for internal use. JAC has subcontracted to JRRC the issuing of licenses to copy works published in Japan for internal use.

Please apply to JAC if you need a license to copy this work for distribution to third parties.

Japan Academic Association for Copyright Clearance (JAC)

9-6-41 Akasaka, Minato-ku, Tokyo 107-0052, Japan

E-mail: info@jaacc.jp; Fax: +81-3-3475-5619

For a license for citation, reprinting, translation, or other use of the work, please contact the KJM Editorial Office directly:

KJM Editorial Office

35 Shinanomachi, Shinjuku-ku, Tokyo 160-0016, Japan

E-mail: keio-j-med@imic.or.jp; Phone: +81-3-5363-3736 (Ext. 64023); Fax: +81-3-3351-3116

Reprographic Reproduction Rights Outside Japan

To copy this work, please use one of the following procedures:

1. If you are applying for a license to copy in a country or region with which JAC has concluded a bilateral agreement with a reproduction rights organization (RRO), please apply for the license to the RRO.

The following URL lists the countries and regions with which JAC has concluded bilateral agreements:

<http://www.jaacc.org/news/201104041043.html>

2. If you are applying for a license to copy in a country or region with which JAC has no bilateral agreement, please apply for the license to JAC.

For a license for citation, reprinting, translation, or other use of the work, please contact the right holder directly. JAC is an official member RRO of the International Federation of Reproduction Rights Organisations.