

25. Folsom JC: Intensive hospital therapy of geriatric patients. Curr Psychiatr Ther 1967; 7: 209–215
26. Folsom JC: Reality orientation for the elderly mental patient. J Geriatr Psychiatry 1968; 1: 291–307
27. Taulbee LR, Folsom JC: Reality orientation for geriatric patients. Hosp Community Psychiatry 1966; 17: 133–135
28. Corrigan JD, Arnett JA, Houck LJ, Jackson RD: Reality orientation for brain injured patients: group treatment and monitoring of recovery. Arch Phys Med Rehabil 1985; 66: 626–630
29. Greene JG, Timbury GC, Smith R, Gardiner M: Reality orientation with elderly patients in the community: an empirical evaluation. Age Ageing 1983; 12: 38–43
30. Hanley I: Reality orientation in the care of the elderly patient with dementia – three case studies. In: Hanley I, Gilhooly M, eds, Psychological Therapies for the Elderly, London, Croom Helm, 1986; 65–79
31. Zepelin H, Wolfe CS, Kleinplatz F: Evaluation of a year long reality orientation program. J Gerontol 1981; 36: 70–77
32. Goldstein G, Turner SM, Holzman A: An evaluation reality orientation therapy. J Behav Assess 1982; 4: 165–178
33. Greene JG: The evaluation of reality orientation. In: Hanley I, Hodge J, eds, Psychological Approaches to the Care of the Elderly, London, Croom Helm, 1984; 192–212
34. Gilleard C, Mitchell RG, Riordan J: Ward orientation training with psychogeriatric patients. J Adv Nurs 1981; 6: 95–98
35. Hanley IG: The use of signposts and active training to modify ward disorientation in elderly patients. J Behav Ther Exp Psychiatry 1981; 12: 241–247
36. Hanley IG, McGuire RJ, Boyd WD: Reality orientation and dementia: a controlled trial of two approaches. Br J Psychiatry 1981; 138: 10–14
37. Kurlychek RT: Use of a digital alarm chronograph as a memory aid in early dementia. Clin Gerontol 1983; 1: 93–94
38. Honda T, Kashima H: Cognitive rehabilitation program for demented patients. Ronen Seishin Igaku Zasshi (Jpn J Geriatr Psychiatry) 1992; 3: 301–306 (in Japanese)
39. Holden UP, Sinebruchow A: Reality orientation therapy: a study investigating the value of this therapy in the rehabilitation of elderly people. Age Ageing 1978; 7: 83–90
40. Hart J, Fleming R: An experimental evaluation of a modified reality orientation therapy. Clin Gerontol 1985; 3: 35–44
41. Woods RT: Specificity of learning in reality orientation sessions: a single case study. Behav Res Ther 1983; 21: 173–175
42. Brook P, Degun G, Mather M: Reality orientation, a therapy for psychogeriatric patient: a controlled study. Br J Psychiatry 1975; 127: 42–45
43. Woods RT: Reality orientation and staff attention: a controlled study. Br J Psychiatry 1979; 134: 502–507
44. MacDonald ML, Settin JM: Reality orientation versus sheltered workshops as treatment for the institutionalized aging. J Gerontol 1978; 33: 416–421
45. Voelkel D: A study of reality orientation and resocialization groups with confused elderly. J Gerontol Nurs 1978; 4: 13–18
46. Vroman G, Kellar L, Cohen I: Cognitive rehabilitation in the elderly: a computer-based memory training program. In: Peregman E, ed, Integrating Theory and Practice in Clinical Neuropsychology, Hillsdale, Lawrence Erlbaum Associates, 1989; 395–415
47. Foxx RM, Marchand-Martella NE, Martella RC, Braunling-McMorrow D, McMorrow MJ: Teaching a problem-solving strategy to closed head-injured adults. Behav Resid Treat 1988; 3: 193–210
48. Lawson MJ, Rice DN: Effects of training in use of executive strategies on verbal memory problem resulting from closed head injury. J Clin Exp Neuropsychol 1989; 11: 824–854
49. Kato M, Kashima H: Frontal lobes and memory disorder. Shinkei Kenkyu no Shimpo (Adv Neurol Sci) 1993; 37: 139–154 (in Japanese)
50. Yoshimasu H, Kato M, Kashima H, Asai M: Neuropsychological tests of remote memory. No to Seishin no Igaku (Brain Sci Ment Disord) 1993; 4: 87–91 (in Japanese)
51. Kashima H: Frontal dysfunction of chronic schizophrenia: the pros and cons in neuropsychological assessment. Yakubutsu Seihin Kodo (Jpn J Psychopharmacol) 1991; 11: 83–88 (in Japanese)
52. Parkin AJ, Leng NRC: Comparative studies of human amnesia: syndrome or syndromes? In: Markowitsch HJ, ed, Information Processing by the Brain, Toronto, Huber, 1988; 107–123
53. Wilson BA, Baddeley A, Evans J: Errorless learning in the rehabilitation of memory impaired people. Neuropsychol Rehabil 1994; 4: 307–326
54. Thoene AI, Glisky EL: Learning of name-face associations in memory impaired patients: a comparison of different training procedures. J Int Neuropsychol Soc 1995; 1: 29–38
55. Komatsu S, Miura M, Kato M, Wakamatsu N, Kashima H: Errorless and effortful processes involved in the learning of face-name associations by patients with alcoholic Korsakoff's syndrome. Neuropsychol Rehabil 1999 (in press)